Introduction

My name is Katherine Lincicum and I am a Licensed Independent Clinical Social Worker licensed by the state of Washington (LW 60841215). I received my BA at Whitworth University in 2006, and my MSW and MPH at University of California Los Angeles (UCLA) in 2014.

Treatment Philosophy

My social work and public health training allow me to take a person-centered approach while still seeing the larger systemic factors that affect a person's wellbeing. I am trained in EMDR (Eye Movement Desensitization and Reprocessing) and have centered my clinical practice on using this treatment strategy. EMDR uses eye movements (and other bilateral stimulation) to activate the brain's natural healing mechanisms to process traumatic events and memories. It was developed initially for trauma, but has been shown to be effective for a range of concerns including depression, anxiety, addiction, chronic pain, and relationship concerns. EMDR is a unique treatment strategy and may not be appropriate for all individuals. In addition to EMDR, I also use Solution Focused Therapy, Motivational Interviewing, Mindfulness Meditation, Supportive Counseling, and Grief Therapy.

Insurance Information

It is your responsibility to discover benefits prior to services. The contact number and/or website address are on the back side of your insurance card. Every insurance plan is unique, therefore when you contact member services you will want to ask specifically for outpatient mental health benefits, in network and/or out of network, number of visits allowed, annual deductible, and co-payment and/or co-insurance amounts, if applicable. Upon first scheduling, you will be asked for the details of your insurance plan's outpatient mental health benefits. If you do not have this information at the time of scheduling, a $150 pre-payment will be assessed in order to cover your portion of the cost, which will be refunded to you if no co-payment is required by your insurance. You may choose to delay scheduling until you have your insurance information, if you prefer not to place a pre-payment.

Confidentiality

The information exchanged between us is confidential, and your right to and the limits of confidentiality are discussed below. In most cases, a signed RELEASE OF INFORMATION (ROI) is required before healthcare information can be disclosed. There are certain circumstances under which information may be released only when a signed ROI is provided. I may also release information to an insurance company or a health care provider who is providing treatment to you if that person needs to know that information. Additionally, the law dictates that in some circumstances your signed authorization MAY NOT be required to release information. These cases are as follows:

- You are considered a harm to yourself and/or another person
- There is cause to believe a minor has been or may be abused or neglected
- There is cause to believe an elder or person with a disability has been or may be abused, neglected, or subject to financial exploitation, and/or
- Your records are requested by a valid subpoena or court order

Client Records

I do keep brief, written records of your treatment and the services that I provide to you. Under law, you may ask me to see and copy that record. You may ask me to correct the record, and I will not disclose your records to others unless you direct me to do so or unless the law authorizes or compels me to do so. If you request records or written information to be released there will be a fee of $28.00 for paperwork and time spent.

Your Legal Protection

Counseling can help to resolve conflicts, improve relationships, create change, and reduce/relieve distressing symptoms. It involves exploring, processing, and discussing concerns and problems which sometimes may elicit uncomfortable feelings, generate painful memories, or create vulnerability. While this is normal, understandable, and a necessary part of therapy, your participation is completely voluntary and you may terminate services at any time. Additionally, you have the right to receive appropriate care and treatment, and to refuse any proposed treatment.

The State of Washington has asked all therapists to convey the following information to their clients:

“Counselors practicing counseling for a fee must be registered or licensed with the department of licensing for the protection of public health and safety. Registration of an individual with the department does not include recognition of any practice standards, nor necessarily implies the effectiveness of any treatment.”

The State of Washington has also asked all therapists to list the following contact information for the Washington Department of Health, in case you wish to file a complaint for unprofessional conduct as outlined by RCW 18.130.180:
